Basic Information about Symbols

 treble clef also called a G clef  bass clef also called an F clef  brace This is really a brace and bracket The brace is the upright line and the bracket curls around it. It tells us that the notes on both staves are to be played at the same time.  staff or stave The five lines on which we write music  bar lines The upright lines dividing sections (bars) of music  double bar lines two upright lines to mark the end of a section or a piece of music  repeat sign these dots tell us to repeat a section of music	 semibreve (or whole note) The semibreve is the longest note in general use. The semibreve rest is in the shape of a box hanging below the fourth line of the staff.  minim (or half note) A minim is played for half the time of a semibreve. The minim rest is in the shape of a box sitting on the third line of the staff.  dotted minim A dot placed after any note makes it longer by half of its own value.  crotchet (or quarter note) A crotchet is played for half of the time of a minim. The distinctive crotchet rest is to its right.  quaver (or eighth note) A quaver is played for half of the time of a crotchet. Its rest is to its right. Two or more quavers are joined by a beam.  semiquaver (or 16th note) A semiquaver is played for half the time of a quaver. Its rest is to its right. Two or more semiquavers are joined by two beams.	 sharp A sharp sign placed in front of a note tells us that the note must be played one semitone higher.  flat A flat sign placed in front of a note tells us that the note must be played one semitone lower.  natural A natural sign placed in front of a note tells us that a note previously altered must now be played at its original pitch.  pause A pause sign over a note tells us that the note should be held for longer than its usual value.  slur, or phrase line A slur or phrase line can be drawn over two or more notes. These notes are to be played smoothly, connected together. They are usually notes of different pitch.  tie Notes which are connected by a tie are always of the same pitch. These notes are 'tied' together and are played as one note, held for their combined values.
